X-Comix Season 1 lore

Petecastic Productions LLC. Free to read.

The Hero - Dkorn, the Circuit 13 Ape

Born in a 12:49 AM storm transformer blowout in the 3 AM Valley: a 900-lb silverback lineman with branching tan antlers, a scarred yellow hard hat, a hi-vis vest, a climbing belt and a snapped steel collar chain. He throws giant wooden cable spools, swings on fiber whip-lines and refuels on Philly soft pretzels and night-shift thermos coffee.

The Family and Crew

Princess Voltia (amber insulator crown, fiber-optic lasso) runs the crown and the crew; baby Kilo naps through boss fights. Allies: Grizz the rescue pit-mix, Marjorie Dispatch, Pops Kowalski, Sparky Finch and Watt-7, Sal of the Neon Corner Deli, and heist duo Domino and Pickle.

Circuit 13 Arcade World

Stages: Rain-Slicked Cul-de-Sacs, Sub-Station 13, Backyard Alley Drop-Poles, The Tangled Attic, Neon Corner Deli, Underground Conduit Maze, and Storm-Head Tower. Bosses: Splicer Drone, Ice-Storm Limb, Raccoon Nest King, Phantom Outage.

10-Book Saga

1 The 12:49 AM Blowout. 2 Don't Wake the Baby. 3 The Golden Mustard Vat. 4 Static on Channel 13. 5 Frost-Line. 6 Copper Tide. 7 The Amber Crown. 8 Shadow Shift. 9 Teen Kilo and the Chrono-Spool. 10 The Forever Grid (Ten Years of Light).

Director's Note

Season 1 is about a night-shift family keeping the lights on for everyone. Every block matters. That is the whole show.

The Answering Line and Mars Fringe Pact

Two stories. One stopped clock. They stay separate.

The Answering Line - Bristol, PA

A utility-horror line from the Echoes stories. The old Bristol mill clock was struck by lightning one storm night at 12:49, and in the morning the hands were still on 12:49. Nobody has ever gotten it going again.

Lineworkers on Circuit 13, a neighborhood feeder whose blinks seem to open doors that should not open, keep finding cuts that are too clean for weather. Something on the other side of the line keeps knocking, and it knocks at 12:49.

The clock never reads 12:50 on the page. The wire still knows the empty chair. Notes on the kitchen counter say: Love ya. Lights stay on.

Mars Fringe Pact - 47.2 Hz

Far from the domes, the Fringe Pact lives in the Subterra lava tubes. Their grid builders stitch salvaged power through living stone, and the Deep Song hums at a steady 47.2 Hz through every wall and bone.

Crystaberry gliders ride the chasm thermals between settlements. Pact food is spiced with vent-pepper, never dome-ration paste.

Lumos the Glowhound is a radiant, teal-glowing light-being dog who leaves glowing paw prints everywhere, turns serious moments into chaos, and gets his own shallow dish at every meal.

A grid that hums, a clock that will not move, and a signal at 47.2 Hz that sounds like someone answering. The two series stay separate. The crossover lives only in shared echoes.

Dkorn and X-Comix. Copyright 2026 Petecastic Productions LLC. Free comic lore.